

CVUSD students qualify for state contest on family and consumer sciences careers

Nineteen Chino Valley Unified School District students received awards at the Family, Community, Career Leaders of America (FCCLA) Region 10 competition held Feb. 4 at Chino High.

FCCLA is a national organization sponsored locally by the Family and Consumer Sciences Department through the California Department of Education.

The CVUSD students' wins have qualified them to attend the FCCLA State Competition, April 8 to 11 in Riverside.

CVUSD winners are:

Chino High

- Evelyn Ramirez – First place and Best of Show, Culinary Display, Appetizers

- Lorena Bates – First place, Job Application and Interview
- Miguel Carrillo – First place, Menu Planning and Table Design
- Elizabeth Tapia – First place, Advanced Tortes
- Jessica Rodriguez – First place, Patisserie (Pastries)
- Michelle Galindo – Second place, Job Application and Interview
- Leslie Downs – Third place, Job Application and Interview

Ayala High

- Trinity Tat – First place, Child Development
- Alycia Akabori – Second place, Illustrated Talk
- Marina Ladores and Julie Meza – Second place, Entrepreneurship
- May Chhur and Hailey Hovey – Second place, Environmental Ambassador
- Alexis Gardiner and Daisy Cheng – Third place, Environmental Ambassador
- Dev Bhatt, Isha Singh, and Rosemary Hadiwidjaya – Fourth place, Environmental Ambassador

The FCCLA Region 10 meeting and competition featured 10 competitions and was attended by nearly 200 people, including more than 100 students and their advisors. Region 10 includes the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, and Imperial. Students from as far away as Calexico, near the Mexican border, attended.

Brittanie Chu, a senior at Ayala High School in Chino Hills and the current FCCLA Region 10 president, presided over the general session. Melissa Webb, California FCCLA State Advisor, presented the competition awards.

During the meeting, three Ayala High students were elected to the FCCLA Region 10 Executive Council officer team for the 2017/2018 school year: sophomores May Chhur and Alycia Akabori, and junior Zheng Dong.

Jennifer Mehaffie and Barbara Allen are advisors to the FCCLA Ayala High chapter, and Elizabeth Williams is advisor to the Chino High chapter.

Culinary Arts Program
Appetizers
Night At The Oscars

