3. Public Comment

Renee Prescott addressed the COC and commented on the Chino HS project indicating that she feels the school staff has been left out of the planning process and is not being informed of issues regarding construction. She also brought up construction related issues involving the recently completed baseball field renovations, and the lack of a new swimming pool as well as changes that are costing the District money and the recent flood that damaged the gymnasium floor.

Chris Hulme addressed the COC about the Chino HS project and asked why the swimming pool had been eliminated from the project. He also said that Chino HS should have the same type of aquatic facilities that the other District high schools have. He asked for more community input meetings to help plan the remaining parts of the projects.

Kevin Cisneroz thanked all the speakers for being at the meeting and voicing their concerns. Kevin then turned it over to Greg provide some input on the Chino HS project. Greg said that there is a lot of misinformation out there regarding this project. The school will be receiving a brand-new aquatic facility that will be very similar to the new Chino Hills HS facility. He also commented on the possible plans to keep and renovate the existing gymnasium in addition to the brand-new gym which will be built during phase II of the project. Greg also said that changes during a project are always imminent, not due to poor planning and bad plans, but that things come up during construction that must be addressed. In doing so, these changes must always be resubmitted to the Department of State Architect and that they are not always at an added cost. Greg closed with comments on the Chino HS planning process in which staff members and the public at large was invited to attend any of the 10 to 12 input meetings that were held. He also said that his department will work more closely with Chino HS principal John Miller to ensure that the school site has the most up to date information possible.
